The Six Day Bicycle Race. The list of entries for the great six-day bleycle race which opens at Bicycle park on Monday night is growing rapidly, and the indications are that there will be more starters than there ever were in any similar event in this city. The entries so far are: Charles Pegau, Harry Edghill, the messenger, Henry E. Taggar, James Mack, C. M. Edwards, H. S. Thomas, Charles M. Parker, John U. Rathman, George E. Toczer and B. G. Brewer of Omaha and Charles A. Murray

The race is open to all class A men, and it is expected that several others will enter. The prize list is one of the most valuable ever hung up for a wheel event in the west. On Monday evening preceeding the race there will be a wheel parade which will be rec-ond only to that of the state fair week. The parade will start from Sixteenth and Cass streets at 7 o'clock, and after traversing the principal streets will proceed to Bicycle park where all who have participated will be admitted free.

Their Crop to Market. And now it is the hay dealers who have complaint to make against the railroads. There is talk of a "car famine" among the dealers in Omaha and hay is advancing in price, not because there is any scarcity of the product, or an unusual demand, but all because the dealers are unable to get cars enough to carry their purchases to market. Railroad men all declare that they have cars to sell or give away, and that business is not heavy enough in any line as yet to cause anything like a car shortage. These two statements don't agree very well, but both are true and the explanation of it comes in the question of rates. The rate on hard coal from Chicage to Omaha is $1 a ton, but none of the roads are carrying any coal at that rate. vindictive rate that the roads have been compelled to make, but are not compelled to work under. The result is that any Omaha man who wants a trainload of hard coal from Chicago, at $1 to reight, is met with the statement, "No cars," and that ends it so far as the rail-roads are concerned. The situation is practically the same in the hay business. Hay is shipped into Omaha, say from Nellgh, for less than $20 a car, while the rate on grain of ny kind is almost double that amount the demand for car, for moving the grain rop the railroads have lost all desire to handle hay at the present rates and hence the "car famine" in the midst of cars to spare on every road in the country. Railway Notes and Gossip. George Ady, general agent of the Union Pacific at Denver, is in the city. Edward A. Eimiger of the general manager's office of the Burlington, has gone to Detroit.

CURRENT ESTERATURE.

The October number of the Century is particularly readable. The opening article, by Mrs. Anna Bowman Dodd, author of "Three Normandie Inns," describes in a gay and picturesque manner the charm of a cruise on the Norfolk Broads in England, which is fully Illustrated by Pennell. "The Marriage Rate of College Women," is a very suggestive article by Miss Milicent W. Shinn, late editor of "The Overland," who has given special attention to the subject. The number is still further lightened by Miss Bicknell's concluding paper on "Life in the Tuileries under the Second Empire," in which with much picturesqueness are set forth some of the causes which contributed to the downfall of Napoleon III. Prof. Sleane's "Life of Napoleon Bonaparte" in the October Century deals with Napoleon, the constitutional despot, and records among other events the fall of Moreau and the murder of the duc d'Enghien, the last chapter having special interest to readers of the history The Century company, New York.

Fun, fancy and facts are mixed together in the usual pleasant proportion for the read-ers of St. Nicholas in the October number. Elbridge S. Brook's historical romance, "A Boy of the First Empire," which has been a Boy of the First Empire," which has been a feature of the magazine for the past year, is brought to an end. The closing chapter chronicles the surrender of Napoleon to the English, and his removal to St. Helena. The heroes of Mr. James Otis' serial, "Teddy and Carrots," prove themselves manly little fellows in overcoming the difficulties that confront them. The first chapters are printed of a two-part story, "Yamoud," by Henry Willard French. Other short stories. Henry Willard French. Other short stories, sketches, verses and Jingles appear in great abundance and the illustrations are up to the usual high standard. The Century company, New York.

The opening article in Frank Leslie's Popular monthly for October is an idyllic description by Mrs. Leicester-Addis of a summer holiday visit to old England's loveliest county, Surrey, with a description of the stately manor of Deepdene, upon which the present American duchess of Mariborough has spent large sums of money to good purpose. Other picturesque features are: "Women as Athictes," by W. de Wagstaffe; "Burmese Women," by H. Fielding; "Light-Givers," by Mary Titcomb; "Town and Cloth Halls of Flanders," by Alexander Ansted; "Widowed Sovereigns," by A. Oakey Hall; and "Alpine Soldiers," by Henry Tyrrell. Frank Leslie's Publishing house, New York. The friction which continually exists between the Hindoo and Mosiem factions of British India is well described in Harper's mer holday visit to old England's loveliest tween the Hindoo and Moslem factions of British India is well described in Harper's Magazine for October, by Edwin Lord Weeks, who has embellished his paper with fourteen litustrations from Indian life. A pathetic story of tramp life is given by Josiah Flynt, who calls his tale "Jamie the Kid." The story describes the downfall of a wayward boy, enticed from his home by a tramp. The second paper by Richard Harding Davis, "Three Gringos in Central America," describes a Journey from the interior of Honscribes a Journey from the interior of Hon-duras to the western coast, and the queer capital Tegucigalpa, in which there is nothing which was not either made on the spot or brought on horse or mule back over the mountains. Harper & Bros., New York. The October number of Jenness Miller's mouthly leads off with Mrs. Miller's article monthly leads off with Mrs. Miller's article on "Mechanical Treatment of the Nerves." The poem, "My Lady Violin," with its dainty illustration, well merits prominent position. The article on "The Social Side of Women's Colleges," with its illustrations of Wellesley, Radcliffe and Vassar, will be of particular interest to college-bred women, while "The Clubs of Women" will probably be read by women and men alike, for the men are getting curious on that subject. Jenness Miller Monthly, 114 Fifth avenue, New York.

The complete novel in the October issue of Lippincott's, "My Strange Patient," contains some adventures that are by no means com-

The first number of the reader than the first number of the reader. The first number of the new juvenile monthly magazine. Frank Leslie's Pleasant Hours for Boys and Girls, contains a feast of good things for young people, and is pro-fusely illustrated. A particularly attractive feature is the opening chapters of a serial Frank Leslie's Publishing house, New York. Godey's Magazine for October is a southern number. A very artistic cover by M. de Lipman emphasizes this, and the two leading Lipman emphasizes this, and the two leading articles are upon "The Cotton States Exposition" at Atlanta, and "King Cotton and His Subjects." The latter treats of cotton picking in the picturesque and the commercial aspects. The Godey company, New York.

WANT CITY TO TEAR IT UP

Citizens Dissatisfied with the Paving on North Twentieth Street.

> GO INTO COURT KICKING ON TAXES Declare It Was a Bad Job in Every

Way with Violation of Stipulations and Hardship to Property Owners. The dissatisfaction of the property owners along North Twentieth street over the payng of that street has again been expressed in the district court by the filing of an amended petition in the suit that was brought against the city about a year ago, and which has been dragging along without results since that time.

It is alleged by the property owners, who tre some twenty in number, that the ordinance passed by the council which authorized the paving of North Twentieth street, provided that the paving material should be provided that the paving material should be Galesburg vitr,fied brick, or some other brick that was equal or superior to that material. Despite the passage of the resolution, it is alleged that the street was not paved with good brick, but with material that was practically worthless. The brick laid in the street is already beginning to crumble, and it is the opinion of the property owners that in a comparatively short space of time the street will become almost impassable.
It is furthermore alleged that after the residences to be made. The city failed to see that this was done, and it is said that there were very few if any connections made, those that are in having been put in before the passage of the resolution. About two-thirds of the residents along the street are desirous of having water and sewer onnections with the mains, but they find it impossible to put them in without tearing up the street, which it is asserted would do irreparable damage, not only to the street, but also to the adjoining property. Conse-quently, and especially as the street was not paved with the material that the property owners asked for, the petitioners now ask that the courts order the city to tear up the alent or superior.

The property owners are also kicking very vigorously against paying the special tax that was assessed for the paving and want County Treasurer Irey enjoined from adver-tising their property for sale for the taxes, on the grounds that they should be declared null and void because they are not only excessive, but also because the paying for which they were assessed was not such as the own-ers asked for. The actual cost of the paving is stated to have been $31,896, whereas the taxes assessed against the property amount to $32,888. This makes the excess taxation almost $1,000. Moreover, it is claimed that fully one-fifth of the taxes should be assessed against the street railway company for the paving between and alongside the rails which extend along the entire length of the street. With such arguments in their favor the property owners declare that they have a most decided right to ask that the special tax be declared

To forestall the point that they had an op portunity to protest against the tax, if ex-cessive, and before the Board of Equalization, they allege that they were never given notice when the board would sit. They have since found that the sitting of the board was advertised in the newspapers, but they assert that they should have been severally notified. action, and since that time no other filings have been made.

of it, especially as she says that he promised her that he would allow her a monthly stipend. In the other affidavit, through her attorney she reiterates her statement that she has no money and asks for $200 for attorney's fees.

Case of Whitewashing. C. E. Byar denies that he owes William Bell $46 for whitewashing or anything else. Bell brought suit for that amount on the ground that he made a contract with Byar to whitewash his house, but before the contract was completed Byar shut him out and refused to pay him. On the other hand, Byar says that when he hired Bell he thought he was competent, but found out that he was not, and therefore he discharged him, pay-ing him, however, in full. Moreover, he asserts that he hired other men to do the white washing at an expense of over $60, and he has presented a claim for that amount against Bell.

Loomer's Mode Bust.

This Corset is especially designed for those adies who desire a long-waisted Corset. The ousts are interlined, so as to retain the shape at all times, and are made a triffe higher than in ordinary styles of corsets. By this construction a graceful shape and fit to the dress-waist is obtained, which gives the bust a natural outline and prevents any wrinkling or "hollowing in" to that portion The suit will be fought hard, although the constition of the city has not been outlined as amining the above cut, ladies will at once yet. When the original petition was filed the city attorney demurred, on the grounds that it did not offer sufficient grounds for signed. It is the best Dress Form Corse ever manufactured.
